A walk to the park

One day male friend and Female Friend took a walk to Verb - Base Form some Noun at the park. They were on their way when a Animal took Susan and started Verb - Present ends in ING her. Carl didn't know what to do. So he Adverb went to his house to get a Noun to throw at the bear. When Pronoun got back Susan was gone and everybody that had been around them was also gone. Carl looked everywhere. Then he heard a "ROAR!!!!!!" and the bear came after him. He threw the Noun really Adverb. He hit the bear right in the eye. The bear passed out right there. Carl was really proud of himself. So he went and stood Preposition the bear with a Adjective look. Then Pronoun heard a "Interjection!!!!!!". He ran toward the sound. He found Susan being Verb - Past Tense by bees! He didn't know what to do, so he went back to his to get a peanut to kill the bees with. When he got back the bees were gone, along with Susan. He looked everywhere. Then he heard a buzz behind him. He turned and threw the peanut at the bees, knocking them all out in one throw, he was proud, so he wandered off to find Susan. Then he heard a "Interjection!" from up high. Then he saw her high up in a tree. He didn't know what to do. So he went back to his house to get a saw. He came back and Susan was still there. He cut down the tree, realizing too late that it was a Adjective idea. The tree fell. Somehow, Susan survived. She only broke Number of her Part of Body. It was a crazy day Preposition the park, Conjunction Susan Conjunction Carl would never visit that park again.
