

How to kill a plant

1. Adjective
2. Adjective
3. Pronoun
4. Noun
5. Conjunction
6. Verb - Base Form
7. Interjection
8. Preposition
9. Verb - Present Ends In Ing
10. Pronoun
11. Adverb
12. Preposition
13. Preposition
14. Conjunction
15. Noun
16. Adverb
17. Interjection

How to kill a plant

You will need:

1 potted plant

1 cup of bleach

1 up ray light

1 trashbag

1 _____ Adjective _____ new plant

Don't you just hate that neighbors _____ Adjective _____ plant in their front window? You ask your self how do I dispose of that horrid disgrace to nature, then they coincidently ask you to "plant sit" while _____ Pronoun _____ are on vacation.They want you to feed their _____ Noun _____, make sure the doors are locked _____ Conjunction _____ lastly, _____ Verb - Base Form _____ their plants. Now is your time to kill that ugly plant! _____ interjection _____ no! You have no idea how you are to kill this disgrace (_____ Preposition _____ come on you have to make it interesting, its you first time _____ Verb - Present ends in ING _____ a plant) and that precisely is why _____ Pronoun _____ am here! This is how to kill a plant! First, all plants need sun right? _____ Adverb _____ this is were you should use the UV ray light to give it some sun. You should hang the light _____ Preposition _____ the plant to make sure that the plant gets some sun. Leave the plant under the light for 1 hour and then start the second step. _____ Preposition _____ leaving the plant under the light you need to water the plant, _____ Conjunction _____ since you are killing the plant you shouldn't water it with water, but the bleach. Now, the last step is to put this demolished _____ Noun _____ in that trashbag you have brought and _____ Adverb _____ throw it away at home. Make sure that all evidence is gone before they arrive home, or they will be suspicious. Now, when the neighbors arrive home, make sure to give them a new pretty plant to replace the ugly one by telling them that their cat got to it. _____ interjection _____! If the neighbors don't have a cat try and find another excuse to cover up what really happened. Now, you can finally admire the lovely plant in their window!