I have been a nudist for over _____ Number years. When I first started in the teenage years I kept it to myself.

One day as I was naked in the _____ Noun, my mother came home from work early and saw me. She asked me if my clothes were _____ Adjective and if that's I was naked. I told her it felt good not wearing them. She was fine with that.

A few years after that, my girlfriend was on her way over. I had to tell her. So I didn't get dressed. When she got there I opened the door naked. She came in and said I looked good like that. I told her about my nudity and she got undressed also. So any time we were visiting each other we would always go around naked.

Years after that when I married someone else, I told her. At first she accepted it and I always was naked when her friends would visit. They didn't see anything wrong with it. But now my wife doesn't like the idea that I'm a nudist. I still sleep naked but she won't. Most of our family members don't understand, but some do. Some of our friends are nudists also.
