More stories at WordBlanks.com

Brocks

1. Adjective _____
2. Verb - Present Ends In Ing _____

Brocks

2012 has been one of the most _____Adjective_____ years in my life. I started the year _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ in Bottineau and working for the Dakota College at Bottineau as an admissions counselor and assistant coach for both basketball and baseball. I enjoyed my time working for the college, as I had the chance to visit schools in North Dakota and Canada to recruit students to attend DCB. In March, I traveled to Vero Beach, Florida with the baseball team for spring training. Basking in the warm weather and coaching baseball was an exquisite way to get away from the frigid, windy, and snowy weather of North Dakota.

Although I enjoyed my time in Bottineau, I was presented with an opportunity to pursuit my dream of teaching and coaching in my hometown of Kenmare, North Dakota. In April, I signed a contract to be the new 5-12th grade Physical Education and Health teacher. Along with teaching, I also accepted the jobs of assistant football coach and head girls basketball coach.

I finished my job in Bottineau at the end of July and moved to Minot to live with my beautiful girlfriend Erin Obenchain. We spent our summer doing things we love: playing softball, going to Summer Theater, and of course, fishing (let's be honest, that's just Brock.) In August, we joined the Obenchain,Hoffart,Watson, Gerhardt clans on a venture to the home of the original Starbucks in Seattle, Washington. Spending time with Erin's family there, including her new cousin, Christian, was also fun, but let's not get off topic.

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.