The Stealling

It was a regular old day in Athens, I, was getting dressed, my regular old black I out of my house with my wine-dipped bread and the fig my mother sent for my father. I was on my way to the agora bringing my father his fig, about half way there I heard a loud crash, I believe it was coming from the parthenon. Being and all, I knew what to do, I ran as fast as I could to the parthenon and when I got there The great Athena Proper Noun that my father and his partners on so hard was missing. When I saw what happened I wondered how someone could take or hide a forty foot statue, so I searched around and when I couldn't find it I got my dad at the agora. He came to the parthenon with other other who had helped him build the great Athena, nobody seemed to know what had happened to the beloved Athena. When we got back to the we told everybody what had happened, me and a other other went to tell all of the woman and girls. After we broke the news to everybody we had a to think about the great Athena and what we have lost. Nobody really knows how the statue went missing and nobody has since.
