the cat king

once upon a time a Animal became king by finding a gate on the ground. the Animal decided to make a Location and so he did. when the cat finished making the kingdom he thought "damn how will i get citizens". so the Animal crime everyone from other same location plural and made them his slaves. then one day the cat was hunted by a hunter and was killed and everyone was set free from the king and lived a good life until the Animal king came back as a monster and crime everyone!

the end :)
