Collin's Litany

You are the Noun and the knife,

the crystal goblet Conjunction the wine.

You are the dew on the morning grass and the Verb - Present ends in ING wheel of the sun.

You are the white apron of the baker,

and the marsh birds _______ in flight.

However, you are not the wind in the orchard,

the plums on the counter,

Conjunction the house of cards.

And you are certainly not the pine-scented air.

There is just no way that you are the pine-scented air.

It is possible that you are the fish Preposition the Noun,

maybe even the pigeon on the general's head,

but you are not even close to being the Noun of cornflowers Preposition Noun.

a quick look in the mirror will show that you are the boots in the corner

Conjunction the boat asleep in its boathouse.

It might interest you to know,

speaking of the Adjective imagery of the world,

that I am the sound of Noun on the Noun.

I also happen to be the shooting star,

the evening paper Verb - Present ends in ING down an alley

and the basket of chestnuts on the kitchen table.

I am ______ the moon in the trees

and the blind woman's tea cup.

But don't worry, I'm not the bread and the knife.

You are still the bread Conjunction the knife.

You will always be the bread and the knife,

not to mention the crystal goblet and--somehow--the Noun.
