My story

I moved to England last year in March because my mum wanted a better life for the family. My mum had already been living in England for three months when she went back for my brother, my sister and me. We were waiting for her while she prepared a new home for us in England.
When I arrived in England I was excited and, because this was my first time in the country, but , at the same time, I was very On the outside I was, but inside I was not, because I didn't want to leave all my friends. I wanted to cry but I tried to stay for my mum because she wanted to see me I liked everything I saw when I came to England - the buildings, the parks and the houses. I thought the people wereand alwaysandand People I didn't even know smiled and said, "Hi, is everything okay?" I really loved it here in England.
I found people my age a bit I thought that teenagers felt that they were the best because they were British and had already lived here a long time. But, I decided to stay and, after a while, everything was
The difference between England and Latvia is England is much bigger and there are more Adjective places than in my country, although, of course, in Latvia we have Adjective places as well. English people are moreabout other people, and this is why so many people move here from other countries.
Now, I feel very about living here. I'm used to it and I feel at home here. I like going back to visit

Latvia and see old friends, but I don't want to live there.

I see my future in England. Now I live in a town, but one day I might like to move to a bigger city. Like lots of my friends, I want to be a policewoman. But I will see what happens - this is just how I feel now.
