Oscar Wilde Love Letter

Dear Name,

This letter's purpose is to show my absurd amount of love for you. Whether it be your twinkling eyes, or your shining hair, you are absolutely beautiful. Your amazing personality is what first caught my attention, primarily your laugh and sense of humor. All of our time spent together has been some of the best time spent of my entire life, whether it be Adjective through the park, or stargazing until the sun comes up. I must be perfectly honest, I overlooked you at first, but like anyone you have met, I have come to know and love you even more from the time we have spent together.
