Steph & Jon's Engagement Story

Jonathan brought the _____ Noun with him on their trip to Vancouver. Unfortunately, weather delays caused them to spend a night in Denver without luggage. Luckily, Jonathan carried the ring with him the whole time. The next day, when they finally arrived in Vancouver, Jonathan and Stephanie decided to go to the aquarium in Stanley Park. En route, their taxi got in a car accident (all the while, Jonathan still carrying the ring). Then at the aquarium, an impromptu visit to the whales led to a giant wave of water splashing both of them. Jonathan still patiently held onto the ring in his pocket and made sure it stayed dry. They walked out of the aquarium where Jonathan suggested a walk to the beach. On their walk, Jonathan jumped behind a large downed tree (pictured) and screamed to Steph that he saw something and she should come take a look. Stephanie climbed behind the tree, kneeling down, apparently hoping to spot a bunny rabbit. After many attempts at explaining to Jonathan that she doesn't see anything, she turned around to find Jonathan on his knee with the Repeat Last Noun _____ in hand
