Rome

One day there was a boy named	Proper Noun	who was visitin	g Rome	Noun	is from a small tow	vn in southern Italy, and has never bee	en to Rome bef	ore. He came to R	ome because	he wanted	to see all the histor	y and sites the city has to offer.
Noun was told of this real	lyAdjective	restaurant to	eat at, and w	hile looking	g at his map he realized he was going to climb this	Adjective	staircase to get	t there. He no	oticed that th	nere were a lot of people there climbing the stairs too	. He though it	was funny, why w	ould anyone	want to put	themselves through	h all that. But little did he know, he v	wasVerb - P	resent ends in ING	up the Spanis	sh Steps!
After eating a me	eal, his next pla	ce to see was the c	collaseum. He	e took the _	Noun because it was the easiest and chea	pest way to get	around. When he	got off, and	opened the	doors to go outside	, he was amazed. The Collaseum wa	s right there! H	Ie couldn't wait to	tour the insic	le. Nour	was interested	ec in everything, from them architectu	are to the old a	rtifacts that were p	ut on display	. He began	to image himself as	S a gladiator Verb - Present ends in ING	people an	d animals like they	y used to do l	oack then. H	Ie also learned that sometimes the Collaseum would be	e filled with	Noun and the	ney would ha	ve Naval fig	ghts.
After seeing so much in Rome,	Noun de	cided it was time to	o go home. H	le took the t	rain home, where his family was waiting for him witl	h dinner.
