The Fall of the Ottoman Empire

The declining of the Ottoman Empire was due to _____ Adjective leadership. After Suleyman I, The Ottoman Empire suffered from constant weak _____ Noun. This caused the government to break up into a number of _____ Adjective factions. Their _____ Adjective problems were largely due to theft. Aside from all these problems The Ottoman Empire also had a severe case of _____ Sickness. The Ottoman Empire did embrace _____ Adjective technologies, but they still fell far behind Britain. In 1789 Selim III attempted to _____ Verb the army. However the Janissary corps refused to change. Selim III was _____ Verb - Past Participle and no future attempts at reform were ever carried out. Nationalist feeling began to _____ Verb in the Ottoman Empire and soon Greece was able to gain _____ Noun. This aided the British in _____ Verb - Present Tense the Ottoman Empire's weakness. Like any good _____ Noun, the British took advantage of this _____ Noun and brought them down.
