What do you get when you put two Noun-Plural who share an obsession with musicals, farting, wedding talk, fast food and generally just being weird together? Something that's for sure. And there's proof of this because exactly that happened in 2003 when Baldwin lost one of is finest to the great Lower Merion . These two shared tons of adventures, which started when, as juniors, they made up nicknames for the " Noun - Plural. Of course, they didn't discriminate against the boys, whether it be going on adventures with freshman boys and holding their, or going to with the junior boys during their senior year. These two girls were a great match because Melanie didn't have a she could drive home from school every day and her friend had a car that she would rather than drive. It worked out nicely when Melanie drove her friend to her first date with her now fianc at and left her there. Even on that fateful day when Melanie crashed her friend's Noun into someone's, their friendship survived and amazingly the was unscathed.
These girls were clearly destined not only to be best friends, but sisters as they joined and became part of a pledge class of They have had countless adventures at Penn State from Spring break 07 - SHOW YOUR Body Part - Plural to their dance moves and generally socially unacceptable behavior while out at frats, they pulled tons of all nighters where they got absolutely no Noun done, they Animal Noise - ends in ED at boys when they didn't want to talk to them, and they basically lived together during their last semester of senior year, where they spent many nights behaving simply ridiculously.

Of course they could never forget all of the madness they went through during After seeing this friend rock out in games shoveling anything and everything into her Part of Body without a second thought, it was no surprise to Melanie that this same absurd girl ate basically all of the for her team during the pool Olympics at Melanie's house in the same amount of time that members of the opposite team ate merely one Same Food - Singular They also share a love of all things, and both enjoy a good party. They've pretty much seen each other at their worst, whether it be in a screaming crying fit on the floor, or Melanie's Adjective behavior junior year, so it follows without reason that they'll continue to be there for each other as they continue on this journey known as life.
So,, will you please do me the honor of being my as I verb
