Thanksgiving

Yesterday, my family and I celebrated Thanksgiving.

We invited all of our relatives and friends to our house to enjoy this _____Adjective_____ holiday. The first thing that we did to prepare for Thanksgiving was to cook the _____Type of Bird_____. I helped my mom put the _____Adjective_____ bird into the _____Adjective_____ oven so that it could roast for _____Number_____ hours. Then we had to make my most favorite part of the dinner: stuffing! We used my _____Adjective_____ great-grandmother's _____Adjective_____ recipe. Finally, I helped my mom _____Verb - Base Form_____ the potatoes. It was difficult because I got really _____Adjective_____ after _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ them for awhile. Soon, people started to _____Verb - Base Form_____ the doorbell. I got to _____Verb - Base Form_____ to some of my relatives, including my crazy Aunt _____First Name of a Person_____. While we were eating the _____Adjective_____ Thanksgiving dinner, I heard a _____Adjective_____ crash in another room. Turns out that my aunt drank a little too much _____Beverage_____ and knocked over a _____Noun_____. She then sat down next to me and started telling me a bunch of _____Adjective_____ stories about how she _____Verb - Past Tense_____ a(n) _____Animal_____ in _____Place_____ while _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ on a(n) _____Noun_____. She really makes no sense sometimes. She also told me about how she met this _____Ethnicity_____ guy at _____Store_____ and they started _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____. I really wanted to leave the conversation but I was trapped in the dining room because someone's _____Adjective_____ butt was blocking the door. Then I smelled a _____Adjective_____ odor. Further speculation demonstrated that the smell was your mom who showed up at the door wearing a raw turkey on her _____Part of Body_____. Your mom.
