A LIFE OF AN ECUADORIAN BOY

THE LIFE OF AN ECUADORIAN BOY

A long time ago, in the _____Noun_____ of the women at _____Proper Noun_____, Ecuador a baby was born. He was something special to his mom and dad of course. His mom had a hard time giving birth to this child, and she had one son and a daughter , a child and a girl. Days later the mom and the child went home, but that's when the sister cried because she thought the mom had replaced her with the new baby. Don't worry , the sister was just 1 year old. She was mad at mom while she was crying. Well months passed and the baby screamed bloody murder on breakfast because of eggs, nasty, smelly eggs. And his grandpa sometimes came to the house to visit and saved him from eggs.

The baby also visited his great grandpa who was still living, and went to the farm with him and loved him. He was a great man. So the baby kept on _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ and met his cousins who were the favorite people in the family. The baby's sister had turned 2 years old, and the baby didn't know what was happening with fire on candles because the only word he could say was water. He continued his babyhood journey and turned 1 year old and his cake was decorated with _____Proper Noun_____ _____Proper Noun_____, which was awesome. Finally he went to preschool were he met all his friends. He has the same friends even right now.

So he _____Adjective_____ preschool; he only drew and played _____Proper Noun - Plural_____ _____Proper Noun - Plural_____ at recess with his friends. So months passed and he saw his sister at _____Noun_____ having fun. He was not scared of going to kindergarten next year. But he was scared of going to 1st grade; he and his _____Noun - Plural_____ heard rumors from 1st graders that the math teacher was Hulk and killed you if you answered wrong. A weird game was invented by the girls, which was to chase the guys with lipstick and give them a kiss on the cheek. He and his friends call that survival.

Whenever school was over his sister picked him up from preschool and together saying bye to their friends, entered the bus and buckled. The bus was first _____Adjective_____ to him; the older boys washed his mind with zombies, and especially the ghosts. When he was home he told everything to his mom about the zombies, survival and stuff. Then he told his dad, grandpa, and great grandpa about school and then he learned a lesson. Whenever you're being chased by girls, get into the boys bathroom.

Kindergarten passed.He and his friends _____Verb - Past Tense_____ with his dad's tactic, and it was summer. He was scared because he knew he had to study to not fail the class with Hulk. So summer passed and it was 2003 September 15. The first day of class (DEATH), he was scared that day because of Hulk. So he hid behind the bushes and skipped the first day on 1st grade while the bus left with his sister on it. He went to the back door entered the kitchen , and told his mom and dad that the bus left and that the math teacher was Hulk. So that day, he left with his dad to his office at the leather factory and he _____Adverb_____ became a boy, that's when another thing happened to him. 2 days passed and he and his family went to the beach for the first time. One day at the beach his mom was searching for him at the beach, but he didn't appear. So his dad started to search for him too; his parents were really nervous.

He came and his mom asked him what happen. He was like "I was just in the bathroom".
