

Lydia & Tyler

1. Verb - Present Tense

Lydia & Tyler

Lydia and I first met in the summer of 2008 at Camp Glisson when I was entering my freshman year of college and she was going into her junior year. We became friends, but did not really get to know each other that well. I saw her only a few times in between then and summer of 2010 when we both worked at Glisson again. From the moment she arrived we became closer and so one night I sent her a text goodnight. Little did I know, that at some point she had decided that she would never need my number again so she deleted it from her phone. So after asking around she discovered that it was me that had texted her and we continued to grow closer and it wasn't long before we were dating. I'm so excited to be marrying Lydia for many reasons. One reason in particular is to start a family with her. She loves being around little children, especially if they are dressed up like food. However, that doesn't mean I want us to have kids right away. First we could probably get a cat and we'll just treat it like a child. The ideal day with Lydia would start off with a nice early morning breakfast at IHOP. After filling our stomachs with tasty pancakes, we would then set off on an adventure somewhere that we had never been before. We'd have a picnic lunch and laugh and play in the warm sun. After a long day of _____ we'd return home to rest and clean up. Then we would finish off the day with a Hawks game, followed by hanging out with Kyle Korver.
