Two Princesses

A long time ago there were two princesses. They were sisters. The older Princesses' name was the older princess, and the younger princesses' name was the younger princess. One day they decided to visit their princess friend named friend princess. friend princess castle was so far away so to get to her castle the princess sisters had to fly on a flying animal. The flying animal name was flying animals name. While they were flying they saw a bad guy the bad guy was a kind of bad guy named bad guys name. bad guys name said, "If you don't come to my jail I am going to bad guy action you." the older princess said, "You can't bad guy action me, I am going to call hero to good guy action you, and put you in kind of jail." So the older princess called hero and told him to come and good guy action bad guys name and put him in kind of jail." After that flying animals name got so tired and said I need a rest, I am going to go to flying animals retreat. Princess the older princess said, "Now home are we going to get to Princess friend princess castle?" Princess the younger princess said, "We can ride a giant insect." "Yeah," said Princess the older princess. So they found a giant insect and name it insect name. They rode their giant insect until they could see princess friend princess castle. When they saw the castle the older princess and the younger princess jumped off of insect name and ran up to the castle calling princess friend princess. That day they played all kinds of games and ate all of their favorite foods until it was time to go to bed. The End.
