We embrace our service vision

Thanks to Paul Thomsson, Collections manager at Richland Bank, for today's 360.

I received a phone call from a _____ Noun _____ questioning our handling of a payment she mailed to us. She notices that we were holding her payment two weeks before posting to her loan. I explained payments are posted as soon as we receive them, but I was curious. I told her I would do some research on the matter and get back to her.

We received a payment by mail that day, so I went to the teller line to find hers. Her check was dated two weeks prior. We looked through the shred bin and found the envelope, also postmarked two weeks prior. Shaun Coffield in Consumer Loans noticed the customer was using our address label over another company's envelope, with their barcode. Because of this, our customer's payment was circulated out of state, until it eventually made it to us.

I called the customer back before the end of the day and she was very surprised by what we found. She assured us that, in the future, she would use new envelopes. I was very thankful that our efforts helped this customer, and prevented more problems in her future.
