Seventh-Grade Love (Prequel)

_____ Main girl name _____ whirled around to see her best friend, _____ Best friend name _____, grin at her. "Hey, _____ Main girl name _____! Did I scare you?"

"You're not funny," _____ Main girl name _____ replied. That was one thing she hated about _____ Best friend name _____. _____ Best friend name _____ loved to scare people. It was like she got paid every time she did it or something, because scaring others until they have a urinal breakdown, to her, was as important as food and water to other people.

"Come on, _____ Main girl nickname _____, cheer up already!" _____ Best friend name _____ was saying, twirling her long locks of _____ Best friend hair colour _____ hair. "I was just joking. You couldn't have thought I was taking it seriously, could you?"

_____ Main girl name _____ rolled her eyes. Life in fifth-grade really wasn't easy, especially with an annoying best friend by your side. But who knew that, in just a day's time, her biggest adventure of her life was going to start.

"Are you trying out for cheerleading?" _____ Best friend name _____ asked, her _____ Best friend hair colour _____ curls bobbing up and down as she jogged on the spot excitedly.

"You can," _____ Main girl name _____ replied. "You're so pretty and flexible and skinny. I'm none of the above."

"Because you're beautiful, and you're super-flexible, and you're super-slim," _____ Best friend name _____ answered. "Come on, _____ Main girl nickname _____! Give it a shot. Maybe you'll get in!"

"I gotta go," _____ Main girl name _____ said, hopping onto her bike and hoisting her school bag over one shoulder. "I'll see you soon!"

"Be there at the game tomorrow!" _____ Best friend name _____ was shrieking after her as _____ Main girl name _____ pedalled out of sight.

The game that _____ Best friend name _____ was talking about was the basketball championships against a rivalling school.

And _____ Best friend name with s at the end _____ crush, _____ Main boy name _____, happened to be the captain of their school basketball team!

_____ Main boy name _____ was okay. No more than simply okay. He didn't have the looks of Robert Pattinson, nor the charm of Taylor Lautner. He was an average boy. He was tall for his age group, and he had two hobbies - basketball and gaming.

_____ Main girl name _____ hated to say it, but _____ Main boy name _____ really wasn't interested in _____ Best friend name _____. Whenever he and _____ Best friend name _____ brushed past each other in the hallway, it was _____ Best friend name _____ who made goo-goo eyes, and _____ Main boy name _____ who didn't even notice.

The next morning, _____ Main girl name _____ found an outfit - a simple _____ Favourite colour _____ t-shirt and faded denim shorts. She messily did up her hair, grabbed her second-hand white leathery handbag, and she dashed out the door.

The game was on! The players were warming up on the courts, practising dribbling or goal-scoring. The opposite team looked tough, but _____ Main boy name _____ had on his best game face and he looked ready for action.

_____ Main girl name _____ found her seat beside _____ Best friend name _____, who was frantically waving at _____ Main boy name _____ and calling out his name. _____ Main girl name _____ rolled her eyes. Was _____ Best friend name _____ really that crazy about _____ Main boy name _____? _____ Main girl name _____ couldn't see why. _____ Main boy name _____ was an absolutely normal boy, maybe just a bit good looking...oh, what was she thinking? _____ Main girl name _____ closed her eyes, inhaled, exhaled, and opened her eyes again. She felt calmer.

The game started! The opposite team was really good, but the home team kept up. Soon, it was down to a tie, and only thirty seconds left of the game. As one of the opposite team members had the ball and passed it to another team member, _____ Main boy name _____ suddenly appeared and snatched the ball out of the air. Not hesitating one minute, he threw the ball at the goal, which was around fifteen yards to where he was standing.

It went in!

crowd went crazy. They were cheering _____ Main boy name with s at the end name. He had saved the win for the home team!

The opposite team looked defeated. The captain turned and left, followed by his team members, who suddenly didn't look at all that tough anymore.

_____ Best friend name was going crazy beside _____ Main girl name, but _____ Main girl name with s at the end eyes were fixed on _____ Main boy name.

And _____ Main boy name saw her. His dazzling _____ Main boy eye colour eyes were fixed on _____ Main girl name with s at the end as well. He gave a gentle smile, and a wave.

_____ Main girl name realized why _____ Best friend name liked _____ Main boy name, then.

She didn't want to admit it.

She had fallen in love with him, too.

After the game, the crowd started to leave. _____ Main girl name and _____ Main boy name caught each other's eyes, and they waved at each other. _____ Main boy name went to talk to _____ Main girl name.

"What's your name?" _____ Main boy name asked. "I'm _____ Main boy name, but you probably know that already."

_____ Main girl name was sure she was blushing. "I'm _____ Main girl name," she smiled. "Good game out there."

_____ Main boy name with s at the end cheeks turned a little bit pink, too. "Thanks," he said. "I could have done anything. I guess I'm a little bit crazy when it comes to basketball."

Suddenly, _____ Best friend name appeared out of nowhere. She looked from _____ Main girl name to _____ Main boy name, and back to _____ Main girl name. Her eyes turned from confused to surprised to angry, and then to...betrayed.

Tears appeared in her eyes as she turned around and stormed off angry.

"What's her problem?" _____ Main boy name asked, looking back at _____ Main girl name. His _____ Main boy eye colour eyes were enough to make any girl's heart melt.

_____ Main girl name shrugged. "I don't know. But I guess I'll be seeing you around often?"

"You bet!" _____ Main boy name grinned.

"See you around!" _____ Main girl name said, waving as _____ Main boy name left.

_____ Main boy name turned around, the gentle wind blowing across his handsome face.

"Yeah. See you around."
