25 people in one simple sob decided to bring a slight simple mob to bring down the monster who lurked in the woods waiting for children to step on it's lawn but no child dared to travel that far from there dear village they did not go far since they knew like everyone else the monster was not far from there dear home 55 people from Determiner states had come and tried to slay the dreadful monster but still 55 skeletons lay in the monsters den so one day the mob ran and charged to find the monsters den they split in to groups to find the monster one group saw a tiny white puppy and said awwww!

but the puppy said bark and the group turned to stone another group saw a rabbit and said awwwww!

but then the rabbit sniffled and the group turned to stone the last group saw a dragon and like all the others said aw... AAAAA and ran to a place never to be seen again intill one day another group came out and it happened all over again...
