You've Been Furloughed

1.	Adjective
2.	Verb - Base Form
3.	Noun - Plural
4.	Adverb
5.	Animal (Plural)
6.	Noun - Plural
7.	Person
8.	Person
9.	Fictional Group
10.	Fictional Character
11.	Food
12.	Adjective
13.	President

You've Been Furloughed

Dear Adjective Employee,

Due to a lapse in Fiscal Year 2014 appropriations, we have no choice but to VerberBase Form you. While your work with Noun-Plural is very important, your services are no longer needed for the Adverb operations of the government. Don't worry about your work while furloughed, we have found that Animal (oloral) are very adept at performing your duties. We know we assured you that you'd have your last paycheck; however sufficient funds are not available. We will be able to pay you in Noun-Plural. Congress has been at impasse and has called in Person and Person to help the stalemate. You do have the right to appeal this furlough to Flectional Group within 30 calendar days. If you do appeal, you will be in the best of hands as Flectional Character has been pointed to represent all appeals. If you don't appeal, grab some Food and enjoy the Advertive show that is the government of the United States.

Sincerely,

President President

©2025 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.