To My Secret Holiday Man:

Wow! The holidays are just around the corner and I, Insert Full Name, am so excited to spend my first Holiday Affiliation here at UCLA! I sure would love to munch on some Favorite Snack between now and New Year's Eve. Nothing is better than that- it brings me back home for a bit! This time of the year is all about smiling, cherishing your time with friends and family, and sharing laughs. I could use something to put a smile on my face, for sure! But I'm not asking for much this season, just a small surprise will do. Anyways, it's time to go study for midterms. So, I'll just wait and see what the next month has in store! Happy (early) holidays, whoever you are! Good luck with your midterms, too!
