Madison Avenue Word Wall Review

On October 3rd, Ms. Madison had an opportunity to greet her students for the first time. She wondered how they would act and behave. Would they be too and not listen to a word she said or would they be so that she would not be able to have fun and interact with them. At 7:00 am, before 1st period, those thoughts were an to her. She would find out in 30 minutes.
When the bell rang and 1st period began, there were a few students who looked really excited to be in Ms.
Madison's Reading Class and a few students who looked As Ms. Madison took a sip of her water, she talked to the students and let them know that this class would not be and she would prefer if the students had to hold their head with their hands, that they looked like they were going to, instead of looking bored. One student yawned in aAdjective manner and Ms. Madison shared with the students that the of the classroom should be and their desks should look The students smiled and agreed as they looked at the of books and pictures in her Reading Classthe class with the of serenity and tranquility.
