

kj;klj

1. Preposition Or Subordinating Conjunction

kj;klj

Yesterday, my family left to visit our friends in [place]. We got _____ Preposition or subordinating conjunction our [adjective] car and [adverb] drove away. It was fun to [adjective] in the car but then I became [adjective] and said [exclamation]. When it was time for dinner, we [verb past tense] at a [noun] and ate some [adjective] [plural noun]. Then we got back in the [noun] and [verb past tense] until it was [adjective] outside. The car ride was very [adjective]. My parents wanted me to [verb] but I decided to [verb] instead. Boy, were they [adjective]! Finally we arrived at the house of our friends [name] and [name]. [exclamation] were they [adjective] to see us!