Laborers in the Vineyard

"For the kingdom of heaven is like a Noun who went out early in the morning to hire Noun - Plural for his vineyard. After agreeing with the Noun - Plural for the usual daily wage, he sent them into his vineyard. When he went out about nine o'clock, he saw others Verb - Present Tense idle in the marketplace; and he said to them, 'You also go into the vineyard, and I will pay you whatever is right.' So they went. When he went out again about noon and about three o'clock, he did the same. And about five o'clock he went out and found others Verb - Present Tense around; and he said to them, 'Why are you Verb - Present Tense here idle all day?' They said to him, 'Because no one has hired us.' He said to them, 'You also go into the vineyard.' When evening came, the owner of the vineyard said to his manager, 'Call the Noun - Plural and give them their pay, beginning with the last and then going to the first.' When those hired about five o'clock came, each of them received the usual daily wage. Now when the first came, they thought they would receive more; but each of them also received the usual daily wage. And when they received it, they Verb - Past Tense against the landowner, saying, 'These last Verb - Past Participle only one hour, and you have made them equal to us who have borne the burden of the day and the Noun heat.' But he replied to one of them, 'Friend, I am doing you no wrong; did you not agree with me for the usual daily wage?
Take what belongs to you and Verb; I choose to give to this last the same as I give to you. Am I not allowed to do what I choose with what belongs to me? Or are you envious because I am generous?' So the last will be first, and the first will be last."
