One time I was hooking up with my _____ Noun in the car. We parked on a random street in front of a house, it was pretty late, thought we were safe. Out of nowhere we see a guy come outside and stare into the car. We both froze hoping he couldn't see us. He just stared, I was terrified, then he abruptly turns around and goes back into the house. Not sure wtf that was all about.

Another night we were hooking up in a chair in his living room. It was dark and we had our clothes on, he was fingering me discreetly. His mom had gone to a neighbors for awhile. All of a sudden I look out the window (the chair was next to a window) and his mom is watching us like literally right there. I tried to pass it off like he was tickling me so I started laughing then I nodded to her and he noticed her and played along. She never said anything about it so maybe it worked.
