New Years Gifts

Once upon a time, the whole family got together at Mark's house. They patiently awaited the New Year and celebrated the memories of the past year. As they sat together, the Snow Princess appeared before them. She was dressed in a Adjective Color gown and a glorious fur hat. The Snow Princess came bearing gifts for the entire family. She decided to give out the gifts to everyone in order, beginning with the Adjective - Ends in EST and Adjective - Ends in EST person in the crowd: Grandma Bella. Grandma Bella had spent 2013 very well attending to the dirty and old Ded Arkadiy. Considering her hard work, Bella received a gift. Her gift was a clock. Next, the Snow Princess decided to give gifts to the oldest and ugliest people in the room: Lena and Eddie. Over the past year, Lena had accomplished many things. Among them, Lena moved into a dirty and distant apartment with her boyfriend Eddie. Eddie and Lena spent their free time biking and casually relaxing. For their brave merits, the Snow Princess rewarded them with a gift and a gift. Lena and Eddie opened their gifts and exclaimed "Thank you for your silly gifts Snow Princess!" The Snow Princess continued to go around the room. Her eyes settled on the sweet and kind Greg. Greg had spent the past year trading stocks. His favorite stocks over the last year were Apple, Book, and New York. Altogether, Greg made four dollars trading over the last year. The Snow Princess rewarded him by giving him a very special and unique gift. Greg received a gift. "Thank you!" he exclaimed. "Now I can use this gift while I bathe!" The Snow Princess happily smiled and continued. My next gift is for Katya! Katya worked very hard over the last year. She studied for her very difficult Specialized High School exam all year and danced ballet whenever she had free time. For her hard work, Katya received a gift. Katya thanked the Snow Princess for the gift and exclaimed "Snow Princess, you are the most beautiful and intelligent!" The Snow Princess smiled and thanked Katya. In the meantime, the Snow Princess shifted her attention to Sam. Sam was known quite well throughout the family for his large mouth. He spent the past year eating a lot of food. He also did very well in school and had a ninety-five average. The Snow Princess gave Sam a gift. Sam said he would wear the gift around his neck. The Snow Princess moved on to Mark. Mark, she said, you have done well this past year! You left your old job where you worked with stupid and retarded people! Mark smiled and told the Snow Princess about how incredibly smart he was compared to the people from his old job. Mark also spoke very dearly about the beautiful, smart, and incredible President Obama. For his deeds, he received a gift. Because Mark loved President Obama, he hoped to share his gift with him. The Snow Princess moved on to Mark's wife: Natasha. Natasha had spent the past year taking care of their new home upstate. She loved the new home, but moreover, she loved her husband Mark. For her hard work, Natasha received a gift. "You are so nice, Snow Princess" she said. The Snow Princess had obviously saved the best for last. It was Pavel's turn to receive his gift. Pavel graduated from College and began working at his new job this year. He worked as a food analyst. "Pavel," said the Snow Princess, "here is your gift." She continued, "I hope you will use your gift to discipline Sam" "Gladly," Pavel exclaimed. The whole family thanked the Snow Princess and gave her a beautiful gift in return. The Snow Princess promised to use the gift during her yoga classes. Happily, the family watched as the Snow Princess swam away to the North Pole. The End.
