Giving Birth

It was a _____ day of week _____ night, around _____ time _____. I was laying in the hospital bed waiting to give birth. I was supposed to have my baby today, and I was hoping it would be on time. When I went to go get an x-ray, i told them I didn't want to know what my baby was going to be. At around _____ time _____, my water broke and I was about to have my baby. I kept pushing, i was hoping for a _____ boy or girl _____. As I was pushing I realized that there was just one, but _____ number _____ heads coming out. I was getting so worried. As they popped up, I realized I had more than one baby! It turned out to be more than one baby. I couldnt believe it. There was _____ number _____ girls and _____ number _____ boys. I was _____ emotion _____. When I found out I had many thoughts. My girls would be named _____ name of girl _____ and _____ name of girl _____, and my boys would be named _____ name of boy _____ and _____ name of boy _____. Having that many babies wasnt planned, but it sure was a surprise!
