How to Run a Webshow

Running a webshow is not as hard as you might think it is. You only need a few things to get started: a camera, a _____Noun_____ account, and a computer with some _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____ software on it.

Make sure that you film in an _____Adjective_____ place. Nothing is more distracting to your audience than having someone _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ in your shot or _____Adjective_____ sounds in the background. Also be sure that you have you lighting set-up optimally, post-production can only fix so many _____Adjective_____ mistakes.

Have a plan when for what is going to happen in your show. Do you want what you say to be _____Adjective_____ or do you want to make certain points about _____Noun_____? These are good things to know before you start _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____, and will save you lots of time later when you are _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____.

Lastly, be _____Verb - Base Form_____ worthy. You can do all the _____Adjective_____ work want, but it won't amount to anything if you can't build up an audience who will _____Verb_____ your show. Finding what makes you _____Adjective_____ and making it your strength is the first step to getting a _____Adjective_____ audience.

And don't forget to have fun!
