John's Dad's Problem

John's dad had a problem with primary emotion. John was always being told not to be secondary emotion, but he saw his dad come home secondary emotion from work at times and he sure saw his dad get secondary emotion at the umpire when they went to sport games. In fact, sometimes his dad would stand up and scream so much that John almost felt other feeling word to be with him. But he never saw his dad get secondary emotion with his mom, and rarely with him. So John wondered, When is it okay and when is it not okay?
