Meeting

Liz: I had actually heard about Erik _____Noun - Plural_____ earlier, when my sister Marie, home for six months in the States, met Erik at a church get-together. That night she told me that this guy might just be perfect for me. I attended several church events in the following months, hoping to meet him for myself, but it was not yet to be. Then one happy Sunday in May, I went to Marie's _____Noun_____ for a special service where they were highlighting her work with Missionary Kids in Spain, as she was going to be returning there soon. I sat in a pew with some friends...
