

The Creation of the Nine Norse Worlds

1. Article
2. Adjective
3. Adjective
4. Preposition
5. Adverb
6. Conjunction
7. Preposition
8. Interjection
9. Article
10. Noun
11. Pronoun
12. Adverb
13. Preposition
14. Noun - Plural
15. Interjection
16. Adverb
17. Noun
18. Verb - Past Tense
19. Adjective
20. Adjective
21. Adjective- Color
22. Noun - Plural
23. Conjunction

- 24. Number
- 25. Verb - Past Tense
- 26. Number
- 27. Pronoun

The Creation of the Nine Norse Worlds

In _____ Article beginning there was Niflheim, the land of ice and _____ Adjective, and Muspelheim, the land of fire and _____ Adjective. _____ Preposition these extremes was Ginnungagap, a vast and bleak abyss. A river of ice flowed _____ Adverb out of Niflheim, into the yawning fracture. Once a spark boldly flew from the raging fires of Muspelheim _____ Conjunction landed in the freezing canal. _____ Preposition this chance encounter of opposites, life was formed. _____ Interjection! What life it was. Ymir, a hideous creature, the first frost giant emerged from Ginnungagap, born of ice and fire.

Audhumla, _____ Article gentle _____ Noun, also emerged from Ginnungagap with Ymir. Her rich milk sustained the giant. As _____ Pronoun _____ Adverb slept, Ymir's children emerged _____ Preposition between his _____ Noun - Plural and armpits. _____ Interjection! They were as gruesome as you would imagine the children born of the sweat of a monster to be.

For nourishment, Audhumla _____ Adverb licked salt from the banks of the icy _____ Noun and in doing so, she _____ Verb - Past Tense three figures: Odin, Vili and Vi. These three creatures had beautiful physical forms.

They had _____ Adjective bodies, _____ Adjective faces, and _____ Adjective- Color hair.

The frost _____ Noun - Plural did not like these new, exquisite creatures _____ Conjunction made war against them. In the battle Ymir and all of his children, save _____ Number, were killed.

From the body of Ymir, Odin, Vili and Vi _____ Verb - Past Tense the _____ Number worlds. Later

_____ Pronoun made the first humans from an ash tree and filled them with will, feeling, and the capacity for thought.