A Not So Scary

Jack recently volunteered to take part in a test. The doctor running the test was named Dr. _____Name_____, and he /she needed a person just like Jack! Jack had _____Colour_____ eyes and was _____Height_____, and was the perfect fit for this experiment. The exciting thing was the test was to take place in a supposedly haunted _____Building_____ in Spain! Jack loved scary things, and was excited to attend.

Jack woke up the morning of departure and boarded the _____Mode of transport_____. It was packed, there were way too many people on it! Now why anyone would want to travel this way was beyond Jack, but he had to, so he sucked it up, and put his fear of it/them behind him. While traveling, Jack sat beside a _____Physical descriptor_____ woman with a rather interesting _____Article of clothing_____. It/them had green and yellow polka dots all over! It was very distracting for Jack.

The transport arrived in Spain, and Jack was a little disappointed. You see, the weather was gloomy, and the rain in Spain had created a very wet walk to the taxi stand, where Jack needed to catch a ride. Jack caught a taxi and said to the driver, "This weather is a real rain on my parade". The _____Adjective_____ driver asked Jack where he needed to go, and when Jack replied, "The haunted BUILDING", the driver was taken back with horror! "Don't you know that the haunted BUILDING has a caterpillar problem!?" Jack wasn't too worried about caterpillars though. Jack was able to get over his fear of _____Mode of transport_____, so a few caterpillars were no problem!

the taxi pulled up to the haunted building, a sign above the gate read, "To The Manor Born". The building was vacant, and as Jack walked up to open the gate, he was greeted by Dr. _____Name_____ and the trusty assistant Isaac. They asked Jack if he was scared to go in, and spend a week in this haunted Spanish building. Jack simply smiled and said, "There's a new sheriff in town!", and walked up the path, and into the building. Isaac whispered to the doctor, "His goose is cooked".

Jack got settled into the haunted building, and spent the first day and night running around, exploring the many rooms. On the second night however, Jack walked into the kitchen to find a ghost! The ghost said hello to Jack, but Jack didn't respond.

Instead, Jack stood in awe of what was happening. The ghost yelled out, "duck!" making Jack turn around quickly to see a _____Object_____ heading straight toward him. He stood back up and noticed another ghost behind him who had thrown the object. The two men ghosts laughed to each other, and welcomed Jack to the building. They told Jack how he was the first person to visit the building in many years, and that people are scared to come up. They explained that they used to be race car drivers, and were invited to the building for an awards show. After they left the show, they got into car accidents, and died, waking up in the building as ghosts!

People were scared of them, and upon seeing them "haunting" the building, fled and never returned. There had been rumors and stories about the ghosts floating around the twitterverse, and they simply weren't true! As the week went on, Jack and the ghosts became friends, talking about their past and their famous last words, which were written on the wall in the living room of the building. The ghosts explained that people are afraid of them for no good reason. If others simply took the time to get to know the ghosts, they would understand they are actually quite lovely. The ghosts were really happy to have Jack around them and wanted to give him/her a goodbye present before he/she left. They showed Jack their old race cars which were located in the garage of the building. One of the ghosts offered, "My Lamborghini or his Porsche? The choice is yours. We are merely just ghosts stuck in this building and that's all we can give you before you leave us, we're always going to remember you and want you to remember us as well." Jack didn't want to leave them but he had to.

After spending time with the ghosts and seeing how nice they were, Jack decided that was the last straw, and pledged to the ghosts that he would tell everyone the truth about them! After his week-long visit was up, Dr. _____Name_____ asked how it was. Jack said it was great, and that the ghosts aren't as scary as everyone thinks! The doctor thanked Jack and agreed to spread the news!
