"Mother?" Kovu, groggily. He looked at the "The sun isn't even up yet."
"You must start your training." Zira explained, before picking him up and taking him outside of the
She placed him down on the ground.
"Now, Verb-present tense." Zira commanded.
Kovu readied this throat and crouched down. He fiercely.
"No!" Zira growled. "There's a difference between Noun and Verb - Present Tense ! Now try it again ."
Kovu roared, a bit loud.
Zira didn't looked yet.

noticed this and	Verb - Past Tense	_ as loud as he could.	Zira looked pleased.
"Good. With a roar li	ke this, you'll be	able to take down Sin	nba." Zira purred.
