Piggy Test

Prima was usually a Adjective little piggy. She lived in a house made of sticks. She invited Sid to dinner one night, and when one thing led to another, she examined him for sores or lesions, and even though she didn't see any, she insisted that he use a latex condom. Sid was so glad to be with her that he didn't complain, at first. After a week of dating, Prima decided that since she was on birth control pills, the condoms weren't Adverb necessary. And so, one day, with all the huffing and puffing, she let Sid come in, unprotected.
