Mary Elizabeth Bowser

Mary E. Bowser was an African-American           Noun          . Her master, Elizabeth Van Lew, is a spy for the           Noun          . She got           Adjective           information just by clearing dishes or serving meals. No one ever questioned that she wasn't just a           Adjective                     Noun          . It also helped that Bowser had a photographic           Noun           so she could remember every           Adjective           detail she picked up. Later Mary worked for a           Noun          . She passed secrets while making deliveries. Eventually President           Proper Noun           found out their was a spy in the           Proper Noun                     Proper Noun          . When the           Proper Noun           found out, Mary attempted to           Verb           down the confederate White House but was unsuccessful.
