

Rose O'Neal Greenhow

1. Adjective
2. Proper Noun
3. Verb - Base Form
4. Noun
5. Adjective
6. Noun
7. Noun

Rose O'Neal Greenhow

Greenhow was an Adjective civil war spy fro the confederate army. Born in Port Tobacco, Proper Noun, as a teenager Rose O'Neal moved from her family's Maryland farm to her aunt's Verb - Base Form boardinghouse in Noun, DC. Personable, Adjective, and outgoing, she adapted easily to the social scene of the capital, and people in Washington's highest circles opened their doors to her. At the age of 26, Rose disappointed an army of suitors by marrying 43-year-old Dr. Noun Noun, a wealthy and learned man with whom she had four daughters.