

Hailey and Andrew's Mad Lib

1. Proper Noun _____
2. Noun _____
3. Adjective _____
4. Noun _____
5. Adjective - Comparative _____
6. Noun _____
7. Noun _____
8. Noun _____
9. Noun _____
10. Proper Noun _____
11. Noun - Plural _____
12. Noun _____
13. Noun - Plural _____
14. Noun - Plural _____
15. Verb - Past Participle _____
16. Adjective _____
17. Noun _____
18. Adverb _____
19. Proper Noun _____
20. Proper Noun _____
21. Noun _____
22. Proper Noun _____
23. Proper Noun _____

24. Proper Noun _____

25. Number _____

26. Adjective _____

27. Noun _____

Hailey and Andrew's Mad Lib

Proper Noun Rosetta Wakeman was a woman who disguised her self as a _____ Noun to fight in the Adjective war for the union. She first went to get a _____ Noun then she learned she could be paid Adjective - Comparative if she were a man. So she disguised herself as a _____ Noun and sometime later some people came up to her and said that she could earn more _____ Noun working in the army. They didnt even know she was a _____ Noun. She enlisted as _____ Noun. _____ Proper Noun Wakeman. She wrote many letters home and in one she said that she could drill as good as any man in her company. Near the end of the Red River Campaign, drinking water became scarce, and Rosetta and her fellow soldiers drank from Noun - Plural that were poisoned by the rotting _____ Noun of dead _____ Noun - Plural. The connection between contamination and infection wasn't understood at that time. They were killed by the Noun - Plural. She died june 19, 1864. Many years later, Rosetta's letters were _____ Verb - Past Participle by a _____ Adjective in the _____ Noun of the farmhouse _____ Adverb Rosetta grew up, in upstate New Proper Noun. They were published in 1994 by editor _____ Proper Noun Cook Burgess as An Uncommon
Noun: The Civil War Letters of _____ Proper Noun Rosetta Wakeman, alias Pvt. Lyons Wakeman, 153rd Regiment, New _____ Proper Noun State _____ Proper Noun, _____ Number. It wasn't until then that the Adjective discovered she was a _____ Noun.