Asking My Crush Out

Honestly, I can't think of a word good enough to describe The Crushs Name. They're just...too Adjective. Some might say I'm too obsessed with them, but honestly, I didn't care much for them even though I had a huge crush on The Crushs Name. Maybe it's because they didn't notice me. Not until that one Adjective day.

"Hey, Main Characters Name! Wanna Verb - Base Form with the group after school today?" My Adjective friends said.

"Exclamation," I said, trying to decline as Adjective as possible. "I have other plans with

The Crushs Name."

"Ooooh!" Cooed one friend.

I Verb - Past Tense away, trying to hide the unmistakable fact that my face was tomato red.

I spotted my crush down the hall, which literally made me Verb - Base Form! Oh, man they were so perfect.

With

those _____ Adjective _____ Color eyes, and that _____ Adjective _____ Length _____ Color hair, who wouldn't be attracted to them?

My heart accelerated to insane speeds. How would I ask them to _____ Verb - Base Form with me at the _____ Location after school? This is going to be _____ Adjective...

"U-um, hey _____ The Crushs Name !" I stuttered. _____ Curse Word ! Off to a bad start.

"Yeah?" They turned around to look at me.

Oh...my... I instantly felt _____ Feeling as my face grew even redder.

"Do you want to... _____ Verb - Base Form with me at the _____ Location after school?" I said, with more _____ Adjective than before.

They hesitated for a moment. Each second was like torture. What would I do if they rejected me? Would I end up as a _____ Adjective _____ Job in some _____ Adjective _____ Location ? I hope not...

" Sure, _____ Main Characters Name So...see you there, yeah?" _____ The Crushs Name said, with that _____ Adjective

smile of theirs.

I nearly melted as they walked away from me, shooting a Adjective wink at me before disappearing down the hall.

My heart, by then literally jumped out of my chest. All while my face was still red-hot.

Hmm... I wonder what'll happen after school at the Location, huh?
