The Crazy Bride

On a Adjective Saturday morning, when the bosses were away, the bridal shoppe team prepared for their day. One of the new stylists could never have prepared for the appointment she was about to have. When her first bride checked in with Judy, she opened her mouth to Verb - Base Form and was missing most of her teeth. But, it got much worse. The stench of this bride even made Morgan and Shelly Verb - Base Form all the way in Indiana. When the stylist went to Verb - Base Form the Adjective bride into the gown, she was shocked because the bride was Adjective naked!

The stylist just kept breathing through her nose and made it thru the appointment without looking at the brides Noun. When the bride came out of the room she asked if she could Verb - Base Form the "Say Yes to the Dress sign" because she had made her decision. Adjective bride bought the new $3800 Allure Couture and signed up to be a Diamond Bride!

Morale if the story: "never judge a Noun by its cover"!
