Ashley & Brent's Love Story

Many, many moons ago, Ashley & Brent both went to Tulane University, where they would first meet at their mutual friend's (Noun). Ashley was too busy playing (noun), going to (proper noun) concerts, and, of course, (past participle), that it wasn't until years later that Brent and Ashley's love would grow. After undergrad, Ashley moved back to the Big Apple, working the agency life while attending (proper noun), while Brent perused law school at (proper noun).

::Fast forward XX years::

As fate would have it, and as alluded to above, Ashley & Brent met again at a wedding. Brent wooed Ashley with his (adjective) dance moves and love for (noun). And after a wonderful evening of dancing and laughing together, they exchanged (noun). Easy now...

Although they lived in different states, Brent trekked to (proper noun) a few months later where he & Ashley would go on their first date. They shared a romantic meal of (noun), after which they knew they were a match made in (noun). But they faced a great challenge, pause for affect... a long distance (noun). As we all know, however, distance proved no match for these two and they enjoyed many adventures together over the next XX years.

Brent planned a spectacular proposal on a (noun) in (proper noun), that literally almost (adjective) Ashley off her feet. A few months later, once Ashley finished her Master's Degree, she moved to Baton Rouge and, alas, Ashley & Brent finally share the same (noun). And their dreams of being together forever will soon come true on April 18, 2015.
