Pacers-Pistons Brawl

The infamous Pacers-Pistons Brawl, also know as the Malice at the Palace, was a brawl that happened on November 19, 2004. With under 60 seconds left to go in the game, Pacers'; Ron Artest fouled Ben Wallace, then Ben Wallace immediately pushed Artest down to the floor. A fight thus broke out, and it all seemed to calm down. All of a sudden, a fan threw a at Artest, who ways laying on the scorer's table. Artest immediately jumped into the _____Noun_____and punched the guy sitting next to the guy who threw it. The result led to nine players being suspended, like Artest, who ended up being suspended 86 games, 73 regular season and 13 postseason, also known as the rest of the season. The final score was 97-82, with the game ending early due to the fight. Otherwise known as a "disgrace"; according to NBA commissioner David Stern.
