How's it Going?

Dear [name],

[exclamation], long time no see.

Santa Cruz has been really [adjective] and I've been spending a lot of time [progressive verb] around the beach and gorging myself on all the delicious [plural noun] I can find in restaurants. So far school has been [adjective], but it can also be [adverb][adjective], especially when these [adjective] kids think it's funny to [four-letter word] up my bike. [exclamation] Anyhow, I had a [adjective] dream [number] days back that you were in: you were a swashbuckling [noun] out in the Caribbean, [progressive verb] princesses and stealing all the [plural noun] that you and your crew could physically [verb]. The punchline, [adverb] for you, was that I [past-tense verb] onto your ship and smoked your stash of [noun], stole your [plural noun] and [past-tense verb] all of your poor crew with a spear. But, you were in it and made me [verb] how you are doing. I hope you've been feeling [

_____ Adjective _____].

[verb] to ye soon.

Your friend,
