The Crow and The Pitcher

The Crow and the Pitcher

It was a sweltering hot summer day. A _____ Animal _____, parched with thirst, came upon a pitcher of _____ Drink _____. But the pitcher was only half full. The _____ Animal _____ leaned and stretched and thrust out his _____ Part of Body _____ as far as he could. No matter how hard he tried, he could not reach the _____ Drink _____.

All of a sudden, the _____ Animal _____ had an idea. He picked up a _____ Noun _____ in his _____ Part of Body _____ and dropped it into the _____ Drink _____. The _____ Drink _____ level in the pitcher rose just a tiny bit. So he dropped in another _____ Noun _____, then another, then one more. The _____ Animal _____ continued doing this for a long time.

Finally, the _____ Drink _____ in the pitcher had risen high enough. The _____ Animal _____ poked in his _____ Part of Body _____ and drank to his heart's content!
