On the Sonnet Cassidy Jordan Sarah

If by dull rhymes our language must be chain'd,

And, like First Name of a Person, the Sonnet word rhyming with sweet

Fetter'd, in spite of Adjective loveliness;

Let us find out, if we must be constrain'd,

Sandals more interwoven and complete

To fit the naked First Name of a Person of poesy;

Let us inspect the lyre, and weigh the stress

Of every chord, and see what may be gain'd

By Part of Body industrious, and attention meet:

Misers of sound and syllable, no less

Than rapper of his coinage, let us be

Jealous of dead leaves in the bay wreath crown;

So, if we may not let the Muse be word that rhymes with freee,

She will be bound with musical instrument of her own.
