

On the Sonnet by Sophia, Jazmin, and Tony

1. Person That You Admire
2. Three Syllable Noun
3. Adjective That Makes You Feel Uncomfortable
4. Verb That Rhymes With Gained
5. Noun That Is Precious To You That You Treasure
6. Color That Represents And Emotion
7. Adjective That Makes You Laugh
8. Noun That Sounds Elegant

On the Sonnet by Sophia, Jazmin, and Tony

If by dull rhymes our English must be chain'd,

And, like person that you admire, the Sonnet sweet

Fetter'd, in spite of pained three syllable noun;

Let us find out, if we must be constrained,

Sandals more interwoven and complete

To fit the adjective that makes you feel uncomfortable foot of poesy;

Let us inspect the lyre, and weigh the stress

Of every chord, and see what may be verb that rhymes with gained

By ear industrious, and attention meet:

Misers of sound and syllable, no less

Than Midas of his noun that is precious to you that you treasure, let us be color that represents and emotion of dead leaves in the bay wreath crown;

So, if we may not let the Muse be adjective that makes you laugh,

She will be bound with noun that sounds elegant of her own.