Sonnet Writing To Himself

Young celebrity should not write Noun - Plural, if they dream

Some day to reach the bright bare seats of fame:

To such, Adjective thoughts and mighty feelings seem

As though, like foreign things, they rarely came.

Eager as men when haply they have heard

Of some new songster, some gay-feathered Adjective,

That hath over blue body of water strayed in hope to find

In our thin foliage here a summer home

Fain would they catch the bright things in their mind,

And cage them into sonnets as they come.

No; they should serve their wants most sparingly

Till the ripe time of a song title, when young thoughts fail,

Then their sad sonnets, like old bards, might be

Merry as youth, and yet grey-haired and hale.

In our thin foliage here a place of choice home

Fain would they Verb - Base Form the bright things in their mind,

And cage them into sonnets as they come.

No; they should serve their wants most sparingly,

Till

the ripe time of song, when young thoughts fail,

Then their emotion sonnets, like old bards, might be

Merry as youth, and yet grey-haired and hale.
