'Twas the Night Before Christmas

Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a was stirring, not even a;
The stockings were hung by the with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their Ikea beds;
While visions of danced in their heads;
And mamma in her, and I in my hard hat,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there arose such a,
I sprang from my Ikea bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow,
Gave a lustre of midday to objects below,
When what to my wondering eyes did appear,
But a miniature and eight tiny rein-deer,
With a little old driver so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment he must be St. Nick.

More

rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Donner and Blitzen!
To the top of the ! to the top of the !
Now work away! work away all!"
As leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky;
So up to the the coursers they flew
With the full of toys, and St. Nicholas too
And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each littlebody part
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his,
And his clothes were all tarnished with sawdust and spray-foam;
A bundle of he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a pedler just opening his pack.
His eyeshow they twinkled! his dimples, how merry!

His

cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke, it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a little belly
That shook when he laughed, like a bowl full of
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself;
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And sawed all the; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose;
He sprang to his, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"
