More stories at WordBlanks.com

Running for President

1. Noun _____
2. Verb - Base Form _____
3. Noun _____
4. Noun - Plural _____
5. Verb - Base Form _____
6. Noun _____
7. Noun _____
8. Verb - Base Form _____
9. Verb - Base Form _____
10. Verb - Base Form _____
11. Noun _____
12. Noun _____
13. Noun _____
14. Noun _____

Running for President

My _____Noun_____, John, knew what he was doing when he convinced me to run for President of the United States. When I asked John, my trusted advisor, to _____Verb - Base Form_____ me with some advice, he quickly give me some good tips. John said, "Think about what the people need to hear from their _____Noun_____. They need someone to look out for their best interest. When you show them your _____Noun - Plural_____ for handling the nation's problems, the people will be _____Verb - Base Form_____ to you. If you hide behind your office desk, they may think you have some secrets to hide and are full of _____Noun_____." I thought this was good advice, and I opened the notes _____Noun_____ on my iPad so I could write his words down.

John stated, "Instead of slowly starting your campaign for Presidency, _____Verb - Base Form_____ your staff to move quickly. Don't _____Verb - Base Form_____ the problems that citizens are worried about. They need to know you won't push those issues aside. You have the power and motivation to _____Verb - Base Form_____ the world from a sad and dreary place, to a successful, happy place. The world has many limitations and is in a rough _____Noun_____ right now. We need you to make the U.S. a better place."

John has such a good way of motivating me. I can't back down now and be a _____Noun_____. I started to realize I could really do this. I could go from being the Senator of California to the President of the United States. This _____Noun_____ to myself made me realize that I could accomplish anything I set my mind to. I shuffled the papers on my desk and organized the _____Noun_____ of objects on my desk. I thought to myself, "This could be the beginning of something amazing."

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.