dreamer, with a purpose. He championed the plight of the disappearing sled dog, and would take the unreachable and create a world stage for a little-known sport. He would be the ring-leader. He teamed up man and dog, pitting them against Mother Nature over thousands of miles and well over four decades. He would battle a war waged by animal rights groups. Funny, considering the race was started to save the dogs themselves and would eventually do just that. He created a love, and a life, for sled dogs that reaches far beyond Alaska's borders today
